

ABORTION & FAMILY PLANNING SERVICES IN LOS ANGELES COUNTY

Access to high quality, timely, comprehensive family planning and reproductive health services is fundamental to the health of individuals, families, and communities. This guide describes resources available in Los Angeles County for anyone who needs abortion care, contraception, or related services.

This guide will be regularly updated to reflect the changing landscape of reproductive health care in the County. Resources are listed alphabetically in each section.

WHO PROVIDES ABORTIONS IN LA COUNTY?

Abortion care is available and accessible in LA County. Abortion is covered by health insurance in California, including Medi-Cal. Note that all people with low incomes in California have access to Medi-Cal during pregnancy, regardless of immigration status. Abortion can be performed with medication (pills) or through an in-clinic procedure, depending on patient preference, individuals' health status and living situation, and the stage of pregnancy.

In some cases, private obstetricians/gynecologist (OB-GYN) physicians or nurse practitioners/nurse midwives can provide abortion care. In most cases, abortion services are provided by OB-GYNs who have training for this specialized care.

CAUTION: BEWARE OF MISLEADING ADVERTISING

Crisis Pregnancy Centers (CPCs), also known as Pregnancy Resource Centers, are privately run places that look like health care clinics but are often not staffed by medical providers. In California and throughout the nation, they are more common than clinics that perform abortion. They are often located very close to real abortion clinics. Online, it is easy to think they are abortion clinics unless one reads the fine print.

CPCs are usually run by religious organizations and offer pregnancy testing, ultrasounds, and supplies for pregnant parents and infants, for free or in exchange for clients taking classes. Some CPCs in California offer more comprehensive health services. However, rather than provide patients with accurate information about pregnancy termination so that people can make their own decisions, their aim is to discourage women from seeking abortion. CPCs across the U.S. often provide clients false medical information.

It can be difficult to tell whether a particular clinic is a medical clinic or a CPC, so if you are considering abortion and want to receive high-quality, medically accurate counseling or medical care, be sure make an appointment with a reputable, licensed health care agency, like the ones listed in this resource.

HOW DO I PAY FOR AN ABORTION?

In the state of California, abortion is covered by health insurance, including through Medi-Cal for people with low incomes. Anyone can apply for Medi-Cal when they are pregnant regardless of immigration status (please see the section Medi-Cal Insurance below for more information).

Accessing abortion often involves costs beyond the cost of medical care. Abortion funds can help meet these expenses or pay for transportation, lodging, and childcare, as well as the cost of the abortion (both for Californians as well as for people coming from out of state).

ACCESS Reproductive Justice

ABORTION DOULA SUPPORT

If you are about to have, are having or have recently had an abortion and would like additional support during that process, consider exploring the care that abortion doulas can provide. Abortion doulas, and other specially trained folks, are equipped to provide emotional and physical support before, during and after an in-office or at-home abortion. Some of the ways that an abortion doula may support you is through providing you with education about your upcoming abortion, holding your hand while you're in the clinic, providing pain relief advice, offering distraction or talking through feelings that arise during this process. Ultimately, this highly-trained, compassionate person is there to support you and respect your reproductive autonomy in a personalized way that serves your unique needs.

MENTAL HEALTH SUPPORT

Many people need support in deciding what to do when they become pregnant and don't want to be, or are not sure they want to carry a pregnancy to term. Though decades of research have proven that abortion does not result in negative physical or mental health outcomes, it is also normal for some people to feel sad or emotional before or after ending a pregnancy. These resources are specifically for those who are seeking an abortion, have had an abortion, or are supporting someone who had an abortion.
